Parents Feedback Survey

The survey gathered responses from 167 parents regarding their perceptions of Kumaun University across various aspects of its academic environment. The survey captured a wide array of respondents, encompassing parents from different backgrounds and geographical locations. This diversity adds richness to the data, reflecting a broad spectrum of perspectives on the university's performance. A majority of respondents; 19.8% are very satisfied and 56.3% are satisfied by with the quality of education and facilities. However, a notable proportion also indicated neutrality or dissatisfaction, suggesting room for improvement in meeting parental expectations.

Communication channels between the university and parents received mixed reviews, with 35.9% finding them very effective and effective, while 25.7% found them somewhat effective, and 20.4% deemed them ineffective. This indicates a need for enhancing communication strategies to better engage parents and keep them informed about academic updates and events.

34.1% have rated the level of interaction between teachers and parents as good and 20.4% as excellent. However, there were also notable proportions reporting average or poor interaction, indicating potential areas for strengthening teacher-parent collaborations. Regarding safety and discipline, 46.7% rated the university's efforts as good, while 27.5% rated them as excellent. Nevertheless, a significant minority expressed concerns, suggesting a need for continuous efforts to enhance safety measures and maintain discipline on campus.

In terms of academic and counselling support services, 66% expressed satisfaction, highlighting the importance of these services in supporting students' academic journey. However, the presence of dissatisfied respondents underscores the necessity of refining and expanding support offerings to cater to diverse student needs effectively.

The relevance and adequacy of the curriculum and study material were generally positively received, with 87.5% agreeing that they adequately prepared students for their future careers. This indicates a perceived alignment between the university's academic offerings and students' career aspirations, reflecting positively on the institution's educational quality.

Concerns

Academic improvement and student support:

- University has revised academic calendar to ensure timely exams and online classes are being taken to cover syllabus on time.
- We have requested the concerned Head to conducted a review on assignments and reduced workload to optimize student learning.

Infrastructure and facilities:

- Letter has been sent to the Director, D.S.B. Campus to improve the sanitation in the campus
- Expansion of the infrastructure for Yoga Department at present is not possible but we are looking for the possibilities.

Student welfare and engagement:

- KU-IIC has increased the frequency of practical training sessions, educational trips, and workshops on entrepreneurship to provide holistic learning experiences for students.

Communication and accountability:

- We have established regular communication channels between the university, parents, and students through newsletters, emails, and dedicated portals.
- We are planning to conducted periodic meetings and feedback sessions to ensure transparency, address concerns, and maintain accountability in decision-making processes.
